WINE PREPARATION

Rosé wine Domaine les Grès is originated in the vineyard of 15 ha located in the foothills of the Maures at the entrance of the Collobrières Village in the department of Var. The soil rests mainly upon granite. The harvest takes place in the early morning to prevent the excessive oxidation of the berries.

The wines are prepared by cold maceration, then racked, yeasted and fermented at controlled temperatures. Then withdrawn, clarified and stored in full tanks.

Domaine Les Grès vineyard is a part of appellation Côtes de Provence area. The "Maures" plain is situated halfway between the northern part of the appellation, where the vineyards are considered to be the freshest and the coastal area known as particularly hot. The vineyard enjoys a very favorable microclimate conducive to the production of delightful rosé wines.
